The Urgency is Clear. The Time for Action is Now.

Join the Grand Rapids African American Health Institute (GRAAHI) for a pivotal summit addressing the critical connections between laws, systems, and lived experiences impacting health equity. In a time of shifting healthcare and social safety nets, understanding these intersections is paramount.

This year's summit is a powerful call to confront the intersecting injustices that continue to deny too many communities access to healthcare, education, and basic human rights.

Be Part of the Change:

We're convening community leaders, healthcare professionals, policymakers, advocates, and residents to:

- Advance Comprehensive Strategies: Develop approaches to protect mental, physical, and emotional health, addressing root causes and dismantling barriers to equitable care.
- Examine Systemic Inequities: Analyze how policy shifts and structural issues in healthcare, education, and civil rights disproportionately harm marginalized communities and mobilize collective action.
- Implement Concrete Action Plans: Forge strategies to defend democratic rights and ensure every community's voice is heard and respected.
- Identify Bold Solutions: Uncover evidence-based policies and interventions for measurable, lasting change.

This action-oriented summit will provide invaluable insights, actionable tools, vital connections, and a shared vision for confronting systems that have long failed our communities. Together, we can break down the barriers to a healthy and thriving community for all.
